To increase the rate of taxes on intangibles as is proposed by the Legislature will drive into hiding many securities which may be good finally, but on which the holder is unwilling to pay a high rate of taxation. The present law of 55 cents on the $100 has caused owners to list notes and bonds of doubtful values, while the prop sition to increase the rate to $1.20 in our opinion will drive many into hiding. The Governor takes the right view of this question when he says it helps to make money easy. Why shouldn't a wise investor buy real estate notes bearing a tax of 55c? It helps the building of homes and the purchase of farms. Don't bother this law gentlemen if you can get by without doing so, and we doubt very much if you can get any more revenue by the suggested increase.

A bill is now pending in the General Assembly whereby the Judge shall appoint a board of equalization of assessments. The measure has many good reasons for becoming law. We would like to suggest an amendment—that assessors of lands be required to go upon each parcel of land assessed and that his oath be attached to his assessment that he has personally been upon each parcel for the purpose of assessing same and that he has assessed same at its fair market value before paper is made him for his services. Such a paper bearing the oath of a qualified citizen would be a valuable record in the courts of record of this State.

How many of our members of the General Assembly have studied the high cost of Government? Of course there is objection to abolishing offices, but little resistance is offered to new creations. The proposition to lay a $2 tax on those who would celebrate marriage is sure to meet objection, like-wise the cut of $40,000 to Agricultural High Schools. The safe route would be to cut off some useless jobs, consolidate others and increase the appropriations for schools and roads. When you put the people s money into schools and roads the taxpayers feel that they are getting a square deal.

Many plans and suggestions are being made to get rid of the deficit already existing. Won't there be some decrease in office rent for the next two years by reason of the capitol sky scrapers? Let the treasurer recover all money laid upon the people and then the next General Assembly will have the funds in hand to run the government in a business way. Too much money is probably wasted by the several departments rather than have it go back into the treasury. Let the governorship be a man's job—appropriations bear his o. k. Step up gentlemen, study your lesson given you by the Simplification Committee and stop playing politics while in school.

Woodrow Wilson Dead

Sunday as the pastors offered petitions for his life, the spirit of the man at that moment was on its wings to its eternal abode. The nations of the earth mourn the death of Wilson. Virginia has lost its most illustrous son and fitting memorial exercises will be held everywhere.

He was recognized as a man of courage and convictions and his fight for ideals—the humanity of the world cost him his life. His wife deeply moved with gratitude over the effort to have his remains sleep in Richmond, has decided that it is best that they should sleep near Washington his last home. Wilson sleeps, but his ideals will live. Much sorrow is expressed by our people here, though few of them ever saw the man in the flesh

His place in history will be high and as the world reads the life of the man as he real y was nations will acknowledge that he made the supreme sacrifice for the human race

Appomattox Ground Hog

It frequently happens that bad weather follows the shadow of the groundhog on Feb. 2nd. There are many who say his hogship is a miff and that he is totally unreliable as a weather profit, but listen to the following story, the correctness and truthfulness which has been fully verified by the editor of this paper.

At the home of T. Burge Moore in this county, a groundhog established his summer home many years. On the 2nd day of Feb. in each year he would make his appearance and visit the rooms of the house generally and especially the dining room and kitchen. If he appeared restless and in a hurry he would invariably leave ahead of a storm and would not be seen on the premises again for six weeks. At the end of six weeks he would return and take up his summer abode. E M. Moore now 82 years of age happened to be a visitor also on the 2nd of February and witnessed the above scene. Mr. Moore says the groundhog always visits his summer home on the 2nd day of February. If he remains winter is over, but if he leaves look for six more weeks of winter.

They Met—They Loved—They Married.

It is barely a month ago that Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoogstraten, Austrian nobleman, hero of the battlefield, tennis championship runner-up, chick of the movies, a noted figure of the European duelling grounds, made the world gasp when he married, in an elopement, Mary Millicent Rogers, the beautiful heiress of some $40,000,000 of Standard Oil's fabulous fortune. Count Salm has written the story of his whole life with its swiftly varing surroundings of old-world regal splendor culminating in his wedding of America's richest heiress. With their usual enterprise the Hearst newspapers have secured the exclusive rights to this sensational story written and signed by the dashing count. The details of this smashing international romance are of absorbing interest. Under the title "How I wooed and won Millicent Rogers", the story will start in the Sunday New York American next Sunday and continue in the daily and Sunday until completed. There is no romance of modern times that compares in interest with this of multi-millionaire heiress and the handsome Count Salm.

Mary Succeeds on Main Street

By LAURA MILLER

"GOING 'EM ONE BETTER" IN THE POST OFFICE

"I can do what anyone else can do," a small girl out in Arkansas took as her motto. Then she added to it, "If it's worth while I can even go 'em one better!"

Thereupon life "called her bluff" as the boys say. Lucynay Schaer had started the family record by being the first of five small Schaers. Lucynay was within an ace of winning a coveted school record at graduation, when—failure, an empty family purse. Lucynay landed a teacher's job.

Then the Hot Springs paper—did I say Lucynay lived in Arkansas down at the very end of a branch railroad?—carried a letter from Uncle Sam to Lucynay. Extra heck? Hardly. It was just an announcement of examinations for post office clerks. Lucynay felt a bit of a thrill when she went into a "Federian office" of the United States government.

Then, "women can't earn their salaries," she was informed, but she set herself to qualify for a special clerkship. The department rates that a clerk must handle letters at the rate of 16 per minute. Miss Schaer averages 90 per minute, and has, on tests, climbed up to 72 without error. But she had no political "pull," and special clerkships were jobs handed to the faithful. She stuck to the job. Four years ago came the merit rating; semi-annual examinations to determine those eligible for special clerkships. "When my winning day arrived," she says, "it was on merit alone."

Outside the office she has mothered two younger sisters, got into the local Y. W. C. A. and learned team work by gaining members for the post office clerks' organization. When a new organization that seeks out successful women reached Hot Springs, it didn't require political pull to make Lucynay Schaer successively local and state president of the business and professional women's club. She still holds, so far as she knows, the post office record. "Of post office work," she says, "I believe a good woman worker can succeed better than a man. Her hands are quicker and her brain travels faster." And as for living in the smaller place she suggests, "One must prepare herself for a special line to succeed."

Occasionally.

Occasionally, the human race is above the course of true love.

SHORT CUTS IN STATE NEWS

The Latest News From All Over the State

HAPPENINGS OF THE WEEK

Harrisonburg.—A total of $18,040.58 was paid to Confederate veterans and widows in Rockingham County during the past year, the pension list of State Auditor Moore shows. In addition, $100 was paid toward the burial expenses of twenty.

Newport News.—The abandonment of rewards to city police officers for stills and liquor captured is favored by the Council, who went on record as favoring the bill of Saxon W. Holt, Senator from Newport News, which provides that all paid police officers be excluded from rewards under the State prohibition law.

Warrenton.—The Leeds Manor orchards, near Markham, in this county, will be sold under deeds of trust and are advertised for auction sale in Warrenton February 16. The orchards are the property of Gilbank Twigg and others and comprise about 2,600 acres, with improvements, planted with many thousands of standard varieties of apple trees from eight to twelve years old.

Lynchburg.—The local branch of the League of Women Voters is planning for a meeting to be held here shortly, at which Mrs. Sarah Lee Plain, of Norfolk, and Mrs. Helen T. Henderson, of Buchanan county, the first women members of the Virginia Legislature, are to be speakers. The league proposes to tender the two women a banquet if arrangements can be made to have them attend.

Danville.—A young woman whose name was given as "Miss Duff, of Spray," was bruised and cut and two young men with her also were bruised when a sedan car in which the young woman was being brought to visit a local relative left the road near Pelham, N. C., Sunday night and plunged down an embankment. The accident is said to have been due to the brilliant headlights of a car coming in the opposite direction.

Winchester.—Mrs. Leslie B. Shepherd, who left recently for Texas, where she joined her husband, a general passenger agent official of a large railway system in the Southwest, expecting to accompany him on a trip into Mexico, has returned here. Authorities of Mexico having declined them permission to enter the country, because it was said of conditions being too unsettled to guarantee their personal safety on the other side of the border.

Harrisonburg.—What is believed to be the largest consignment of pure seed ever placed by a farmers' co-operative organization in Virginia is that of the carload of tested clover and alfalfa seed purchased by the Rockingham Farm Bureau for $15,000. The seed was purchased through the Virginia Seed Service through a similar organization in Michigan. The seed was grown under the supervision of and tested by the Michigan Crop Improvement Association.

Charlottesville.—Bids for the purchase of the recent $500,000 issue of water bonds, to supplement the city's water supply, were opened at the City Hall. There were about twenty bidders on hand, representing about sixty houses. The highest bid received was that of Redmond & Co., of New York City, through their Virginia representative, Edward W. Gamble, Jr., of this city. The price paid for the bonds was $503,250, and is regarded as a very attractive one, as several cities and counties in the State have recently disposed of their bonds at a considerably lower figure. The bonds are thirty-four-year bonds, and become due in 1958.

Winchester. — A motion picture film, "The Key to the World," showing stages of development in China, was exhibited in Centenary Reformed Church, under circumstances rather unusual, in that three brothers had part in its making, editing and presentation. The Rev. A. V. Casselman was several years ago sent at the head of an expedition to China to take motion picture films and upon returning they were turned over to the Rev. H. H. Casselman for editing. When the Rev. F. R. Casselman, pastor of Centenary Church, sent to New York for the week's film release, he was quite surprised to find that the concern with whom he deals had sent him the film taken and edited by his two brothers.

Schuyler.—Search for Jerry Snow, 21 years old, of this place, had a tragic climax when his body was discovered hanging by his own belt to a tree in a forest near his home. The young man left his home Friday morning with his dogs, telling his mother that he would return shortly. When he failed to return Friday evening neighbors instituted a search which ended in the discovery of the body Saturday afternoon. The victim of the tragedy was melancholy at times and apparently ended his life while mentally depressed.

C. A. Hancock and family returned last evening from Florida, where they have been members of the famous ten Fisherman's club of Appomattox. Miss Margaret Hancock enters upon her high school work at Mary Baldwin immediately.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Appomattox Light & Power Monday the report of the Secretary-Treasurer was read and approved, which showed the company to be in good shape and on the up-grade. The board of directors was elected as follows: C. A. Hancock, A. T. Jones, R. D. Moses, W. M. Hancock, C. F. James, C. W. Smith. A committee was appointed to report a plan for the lighting of streets. The board elected the old officers.

Farmville Concert Company rendered a very interesting musical program at the auditorium here Monday evening to a good audience. This talent was secured by the Parent Teachers Association. The reading by Mrs. Spear was much enjoyed and the singeing of Miss Ware, Messrs. Pool and Burton and the playing of Miss Willis all deserve special mention. Farmville should feel proud of her artists and Appomattox will want to hear them again.

Rev. H. P. East tendered his resignation to Liberty congregation to take effect between now and July 1st. The vote of acceptance was carried indicating that many of his members were against accepting. He has just moved into the handsome new parsonage of the church, and many improvements have been made to the church property under his ministry. Many people of the community will regret his departure from this field.

In this issue we print the financial statement of the county school funds. See how your money went. The Superintendent claims he violated no law in printing in a foreign paper and that the brevity used by him was not in violation of the law. The superintendent has a vague idea of the intent of the law. His ignorance is crass.

Rev. A. L. Stevenson preached the first of a series of sermons on the Apostles Sunday evening at Memorial church. His subject was Mathew and the life of the Publican and his character was the basis of a splendid sermon, which compelled marked attention of a large congregation. He will take up one of the apostles the first Sunday evening of each month until the twelve have been treated. Mr. Stevenson is an earnest speaker, studies his subjects and delivers his messages in an attractive and entertaining manner. With the proper co-operation of the church, and consecrated service this man and his active and energetic wife are giving the community a great and enduring blessing awaits our people.

Hon J. R. Horseley was called home from Richmond on account of the illness of his mother Saturday. Her condition is reported to be critical.

Childress of Lynchburg, and S. B. and Robert P. Jennings of Evergreen. His body was taken to Evergreen for burial.

Golden Wedding

A most enjoyable and surprising occasion occurred on the 17th of December 1923, when the 50th anniversary of W. F. Burge and wife was celebrated at their home near Oakville, Va. Their children made arrangements to meet there and surprise them, so they did not know anything about it until an hour or two before the crowd gathered. which was made up of their children, grandchildren, great - grandchildren, brothers and sisters, a few near relatives and their pastor and wife. Each family brought a basket and everything was plentiful. 45 were fed and enough left to feed as many more. The table extended across the room and was decorated with holly, and in the center was a very large cake with 50 candles. The entire family was present except a sister, three grandchildren and three great grandchildren. The couple have four children, twenty-six grandchildren living, and four dead, four great-grandchildren living, and one dead, and four sisters and one brother.

Fifty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Burge enjoyed their wedding supper in the same house and have been living there ever since. Few can say as much.

Everybody seemed to enjoy the occasion, especially the honored couple who have lived so happily together for fifty years. May prayer be that there may be many more years of the union. They received many presents.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 10

THE FAILURE AT KADESH

LESSON TEXT—Num. 14:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is with us; fear them not.—Num. 14:9.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Israel Refusing to Advance.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Crisis at Kadesh.

I. The Spies Sent Out (Num. 13:1-17:20).

Less than two years had passed since the Israelites were delivered from their Egyptian bondage. They were now at Kadesh-barnea, within sight of the promised land. Moses urged them to go in and take immediate possession (Deut. 1:21), but they failed because of their unbelief (Heb. 3:19). The record in Deuteronomy 1:19-25 shows that God did not take the initiative in sending out the spies but that request was made by the people. Representative men, a ruler from each tribe, were secured. There was a three-fold purpose in sending out the spies:

1. To see whether the land was as God had told them (v. 18).

2. To see whether the people who dwelt there were strong or weak, few or many (v. 18)?

3. To see whether the cities were made up of strongholds or tents (v. 19).

II. The Commission Executed (Num. 13:21-25).

They entered the land from the south and traversed it to its northern limit. They spent 40 days in this investigating exploration. On their return from the north, they gathered some specimens of the fruits of the land. Two of them, perhaps Caleb and Joshua, bore a cluster of grapes upon a staff between them as a witness that God had spoken the truth about the land.

III. The Spies Rendered a Report (Num. 13:26-33).

On their return this committee of explorers rendered a report to the whole congregation. It was not unanimous.

1. The Majority Report (vv. 26-29). (1) A land flowing with milk and honey (v. 27). As a proof thereof, they exhibited the fruit. (2) The people who live there are strong (v. 28). (3) The people live in walled cities (v. 28). (4) The land is inhabited with giants (v. 28; cf. v. 33). They saw themselves as grasshoppers. Furthermore, they saw the people so distributed, the Amalekites in the south, the Hittites, Jebusites and the Amorites in the mountains, and the Canaanites along the sea, that it was impossible to take them.

2. The Minority Report (vv. 30-33). In part this report agrees with the first. It does not ignore the difficulties nor dispute the facts. It denies the conclusion of the majority. They did not minimize the task before them, but asserted that with God's help they were well able to take possession of the land, and urged immediate action. They had their eyes on the real difficulties, but Caleb and Joshua fixed their eyes upon God. Caleb lived to see his suggestions made real.

IV. The Rebellion of the People (Num. 14:1-10).

This rebellion began by crying, which shows that they were cowards. Having left God out of the question, they now weep and howl.

1. Murmuring (vv. 1-5). This weeping and howling was turned into murmuring against Moses and Aaron. Though too weak and cowardly to take their enemies in the power of God, they could assail their leaders. They even wished that they had died in Egypt.

2. Proposition to Organize to Return to Egypt (vv. 3, 4). They proposed to select a captain as their leader. God took them at their word and sent them back to wander in the wilderness for 38 years, during which time they all died except Joshua and Caleb.

3. Moses and Aaron Prostrate Themselves (v. 5).

4. Joshua and Caleb Protested (vv. 6-9). They rent their clothes. They insisted that the land was good and that if the Lord delighted in them He would bring them into the land.

5. The People Were Filled With Murderous Hate and Proposed Stoning Joshua and Caleb (v. 10).

6. God's Intervention (v. 10). He manifested His glory before all the children of Israel in vindication of the loyalty of Joshua and Caleb. God then proposed punishment for Israel.

Sympathy.

Often the best act of sympathy you can extend to a friend in a great sorrow is to go to him and be with him, saying little or nothing; for there are sorrows that are beyond words.—Presbyterian Record.

God's Remedy.

There are wrongs in this world to be righted, but no moral philosophy will right them. God alone can meet such a situation with an adequate remedy.—Herald of Gospel Liberty.

Our Helper Is Omnipotent.

It is impossible for that man to despair who remembers that his Helper is omnipotent.—Jeremy Taylor.

The Old Year — The New Year

During 1923 it was our pleasure and privilege to serve our depositors on a larger scale and in more ways than ever before. Our steady, consistent growth has been very gratifying to us, because it meant that our friends and customers were growing with us—that our success and prosperity was shared in by many. Our part in contributing to the healthy financial life of Appomattox and vicinity has been a source of eminent satisfaction to us.

The new year opens with bright promises of still greater things to be accomplished. We are not content that the achievements of the past shall measure any limit of our possibilities. We anticipate the renewed confidence of those whom we have served in the past and the joy of making many new friends. We extend to you at this time our most cordial invitation to make this your new financial home for 1924 and, we hope, for many more years to come
